

JUAL Branded Clothing took the opportunity to become part of the Somerset Hinkley Supply Chain Database as soon as it was announced, and are delighted to be the first local clothing company to be authorised to supply work, corporate and occupational clothing and uniforms, as well as, specialist PPE equipment and accessories to the proposed site.

JUAL have been working with the representatives of EDF Energy for a number of months to evaluate the workwear requirements for the staff at the proposed new development at Hinkley Point.

Based in North Newton, JUAL have been providing work wear and uniform, locally and nationally, for nearly 20 years. We are a family run company committed to offering the very best service and to provide clothing solutions for any business of any size. We provide a full logo branding service on site which includes embroidery, printing and labelling.

Alison, Managing Director at JUAL said "we look forward to working with the EDF Energy teams and associated contractors and companies in the initial stages and for the foreseeable future. There will be marvellous opportunities for local businesses in Somerset going forward, benefitting the Somerset economy as a whole. I would recommend registering with the Hinkley Supply Chain Database, which is quick and easy to do. We've received updates on construction phases and tender news, and opportunities to meet with the key people involved."
